Contract Specifications

Exercise

All option contract months shall expire into the nearest month of the standard five month contract cycle (March, May, July, September, December). For example, a March option contract expires into a March futures contract. An April option contract expires into a May futures contract. Unexercised options expire at 8:00pm New York time on the Last Trading Day.

After the close of trading in the expiring options on expiration day, all in-the-money options shall be automatically exercised, unless notice to cancel automatic exercise is given to ICE Clear US by 7:00pm New York Time, or by such other time designated by the Exchange, on the last day of trading.
