1. Preface

- 1.1 This Code of Conduct is intended to work together with the IBA Precious Metals Auction Rule Book to set out the framework which Participants in the IBA Gold and Silver Auctions should observe to ensure consistency, reliability and high standards of conduct.
- 1.2 The Rule Book governs a Participant's behavior within the Auction and the Code of Conduct governs the wider behavior of the firm, particularly in relation to potential conflicts of interest such as managing Client Orders and where the firm (or an Affiliate) is also a user of the LBMA Gold and/or Silver Price Benchmarks.
- 1.3 While this Code largely relates to the behavior of Participants in the IBA Auction, it also refers to the LBMA Gold Price and LBMA Silver Price Benchmarks, thus it is owned and overseen by the Precious Metals Oversight Committee and will be subject to a periodic general review, although the Oversight Committee shall be entitled to review and propose amendments at any time.
- 1.4 Participants will be asked to confirm their adherence to this Code at least annually and may also be asked by the Oversight Committee to confirm adherence following any material change to the content of the Code. Such confirmations should be provided on a 'comply or explain' basis.
- 1.5 Any material amendments to or updates of this Code shall be subject to prior consultation with the Participants and such other stakeholders as the Oversight Committee may in its absolute discretion consider appropriate. The Oversight Committee shall take into account responses to any such consultation, but shall be entitled to make amendments to the Code as it considers necessary or appropriate.
- 1.6 A copy of this Code will be made available on IBA's website and will be updated each time an amendment is made.

- 3.2 Governance arrangements shall be within the context of a risk management and control framework that reflects appropriate senior management supervision and awareness of the IBA Auction. Arrangements shall be appropriate and proportionate to the size and complexity of the Participant. When reviewing these governance arrangements Participants are encouraged to consider whether policies and procedures adequately cover the following areas:
- a) policies and operating procedures for facilitating the entry of Client Orders into the IBA Auction where necessary, as well as House Orders;
 - b) oversight and monitoring arrangements, including the provision of timely and relevant management information;

- 3.3 The Participant shall allocate to appropriately senior individuals the responsibility for overseeing that Participant's participation in the IBA Auction, the related policies and procedures of the Participant, and for receiving and assessing any relevant internal reports. In some Participants this may require a formal group to be established but in others this oversight function may be exercised within the framework of the Participant's existing compliance or risk management framework.
- 3.4 The role of Representative shall be formally designated and documented as such within the Participant organisation. The designation documentation shall include the person's name, role and reporting line, as well as a job description covering that individual's involvement in the IBA Auction.

- 6.5 Participants shall ensure that they have implemented proportionate internal controls and procedures to mitigate actual, potential or perceived conflicts of interests (which might include, for example, where a Representative or Manager has parallel responsibility for derivatives trading which references an LBMA Precious Metals Price). Such internal controls and procedures shall be documented and regularly reviewed to confirm their effectiveness.
- 6.6 Where the Participant believes that reasonable measures are unable to adequately address or mitigate any conflict of interest identified as described above, the nature of the conflict of interest arising shall be disclosed to IBA.
- 6.7 Any disclosure shall be clear, fair and not misleading and shall be made in writing. The amount of detail which must be disclosed will depend on the nature and context of the conflict.
